The community appear to be a wakened to a seem of their negligence in this department of industry. The agricultural and geological surveys of several States are coming at the root of the matter; and these surveys ought to go on, total the now more than hidden resources of our country are fully developed. It is to the earth that we must look for the valuable and inexhausfible store bouse of nature, filled with the rude material for the productive laborer, and rich in bestowing the notriment of life. A nature which bases its hopes of prosperity upon any less substantial resources, can never acquire unfluctuating national wealth.

Protection from Crown.—As there are many districts of our country where crows are numerous and prove very destructive to the corn before and after it comes up, we will describe a very simple but most efficient scare-crow which we have seen tried with complete success. It consists in hanging a sheet of in on a pole sufficiently long to be seen from all parts of the field. Where the field is large let these scare-crows be multiplied on the more elevated points so that they may be seen in every direction; four will be sufficient for a hundred acre field. Every breeze of wind produces a reflection which proves truly irresistible to these birds of proy, who invariably take wing and ity away. If suspended by wire or strong twine, they will remain permanent during the esseen, and if taken care of at its termination, will last many years—indeed whenever their brightness is

THE AGGREGATE MAJORITY.

We subjoin a Table, shewing the relative Whig and Opposition majority in the several Congressional Districts, of this State, at the recent Election. It will be seen that the aggregate Whig majority, though sufficiently great, is less by several thousand than when the Presidential vote was given. This is owing, however, altopether to the thinness of the vote, and not to any falling off of the Whig strength. In proportion to the number of votes, justicest, the majority obtained is much greater, in fact, than was received at the Presidential Election.

Some of the Opposition prints, may object, perhaps, that the recent Election furnishes no test of the strength of parties in this State, massmach as there were so Locoficco Candidates in the Edenton, Salisbury and Mountain Districts. This is true, and the test mus not be very accurate on that account. But when it is recollected, that neither sind the Whigs any Candidates in the Edenton of Warren Districts. It is vary interesting (remarks the Philadelphia National Gazette) to note the uhanges which must take place in the representation of the States in Congress under the late cause of the population.—The present ratio is one member of the House for 47,700 inhabitants. Under the new division it will be one for 60,000,—a ratio which will after very materially the relative strength of many States.

Respecting the Commission of layestiga-on at the New York Custom-house, the ommercial Advertiser of Monday even-Commercial Advertiser of Monday evening says: "The investigating committee has not closed its labors, nor is it likely to do so at present. Although they have been using the probe but a single week, we are informed that many deep and grievous sores have been discovered. In other words, we are assured that disclosures of rascalities so stupendous as almost to startle belief have been made, and the investigation is not completed. The disclosures are chiefly wrang from those who have been ungaged in the customs—who are acquainted with the secrets of the prisonhouse. We are further assured that the recent astounding statements of 'a late house. We are further assured that the recent astounding statements of 'a late custom-house officer,' as published in the Express, have been sustained; and we have also learned that those statements have setnally and truly been derived from those lately to the Custom-house, who have stood high with 'the party.'

The present ratio is one member of the House of 47,700 inhabitants. Under the new division it will be one for 60,000,—a ratio which will after very materially the relative strength of many States.

According to the latter ratio, Maine, Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Delaware, will each retain the same number of members.

New Hampshire will lose 1 member, Vermont 1, Rhode Island 1, Connecticut 1, Maryland 1, Virginia 4, North Carolina 2, South Carolina 2, Georgia 1, Tennessee 1, and Kentucky 1, making together a loss of 16 members.

Ohio will gain 6 members, Indiana 4, Illinois 4, Michigan 2, Alabama 1, Mississippi 2, Louisiana 1, Missouri 3, making together a gain of 23, or a net addition to the House of 7 Representatives.

NEW CONSTRUCTION OF THE CON.

We learn from the Savannah Republican, that at St. Augustine, when the news of President Harrison's death arrived. In mor says that there was a great joilification among a large portion of the Loca Pocos.

The flare up arose from a new construction of the Constitution, if being supposed that in the event of the President ds focts dying, the one in this case Mr. Van Buren) having the next greatest number of votes would become the President. The Loca had a glorious time, caroused nearly all night, woke up late in the morning, rubbed their eyes, dressed and took up a cup of coffee, and then ascertained that "The all but a dream at the best."
